- (4) No provisional registration certificate shall be issued in terms of this section, unless the Director is satisfied that the carrying on of the scheduled process concerned may reasonably be permitted in the locality concerned, having regard to the nature of that process, the character of the locality concerned, the purposes for which other premises in that locality are used and any other considerations which in his opinion have a bearing on the matter, and that the carrying on of that process in or on the premises concerned would not be in conflict with any town planning scheme which is in operation in that locality or is in the course of preparation in respect thereof.
- (5) In the case of an application in terms of section 5(1)(b) the Director shall consult the urban local authority, if any, in whose area of jurisdiction the proposed scheduled process will be in operation and any urban local authority in whose area of jurisdiction there are residents who may in the opinion of the Director be affected by the carrying on of the scheduled process to which the application relates, and the opinion and recommendation of such urban local authority or authorities shall be recorded and considered by the Director.

 - (e) the proposed measures for the purification of the effluents discharged from appliances installed for preventing or reducing to a minimum the escape into the atmosphere of noxious or offensive gases from the processes that will be in operation, and for preventing the release of noxious or offensive constituents from such effluents when they come into contact with other effluents in drains or drainage canals.

- (3) If any building or plant in respect of which a provisional registration certificate has been issued, is, within the period specified in subsection (1), or within such further period as the Director may allow, completed, altered or extended to the satisfaction of the Director in accordance with the particulars specified in that certificate, the Director shall, on application by the holder of that certificate, issue to him a registration certificate in the prescribed form authorising the carrying on of the scheduled process to which that provisional registration certificate relates in or on the premises in respect of which that provisional registration certificate was issued, and thereupon such provisional registration certificate shall lapse.
- (4) The holder of a provisional registration certificate may carry on in or on the premises to which that certificate relates any process specified in that certificate, and the provisions of section 8 shall mutatis mutandis apply with reference to the carrying on of that process in or on such premises.

8. Conditions of registration certificate

- (1) A registration certificate shall be subject to the condition that all plant and apparatus used for the purpose of carrying on the scheduled process concerned and all appliances for preventing or reducing to a minimum the escape into the atmosphere of noxious or offensive gases, shall at all times be properly maintained and operated and that the holder of the certificate shall ensure that all other necessary measures are taken to prevent the escape into the atmosphere of noxious or offensive gases: Provided that in applying the provisions of this subsection due allowance shall be made for the unavoidable escape into the atmosphere of noxious or offensive gases when any plant or apparatus in respect of which the registration certificate was issued is being started up or during any period of any breakdown or shutting down or disturbance of such plant or apparatus.
- (2) The Director may at any time by notice in writing require the holder of any such certificate to take steps to ensure the more effective operation of the apparatus provided for in such certificate for the prevention of the escape into the atmosphere of the noxious or offensive gases produced by the scheduled process to which the certificate relates.
- (3)
 - (a) The Director may at any time by notice in writing require the holder of any such certificate to take such steps as may be reasonable, having regard to the cost involved, to ensure the more effective prevention of the escape into the atmosphere of noxious or offensive gases, produced by the scheduled process to which the certificate relates, by means of some other or improved process or equipment specified in such notice.
 - (b) Any such holder shall be allowed a reasonable period within which to take the steps specified in the relevant notice.
- (4) If the holder of a registration certificate fails to comply with the conditions referred to in subsection (1) or any requirement in terms of subsection (2) or (3), the Director may by notice in writing call upon such holder to comply with such conditions or requirements within a reasonable period specified in the notice and if such holder fails to comply with the said conditions or requirements within the period so specified, the Director may cancel the registration certificate or suspend the operation thereof for such period as he may deem fit.

9. Objections to decisions of Director

- (1)

 - (ii) Any person who so objects may, pending a decision in terms of this section in regard to such objection continue to carry on the scheduled process to which such objection relates, if such scheduled process was carried on prior to the decision of the Director which is the subject of the objection and if the Director has been satisfied that the escape into the atmosphere of gases produced by the said process is not or is not likely to give rise to a danger to the health of man, and has granted permission that such process may be carried on.

- (b) If a provisional registration certificate referred to in section 5(1)(b) is granted notwithstanding any objection by an urban local authority referred to in section 6(5), such urban local authority may, within thirty days after the date on which such decision was given, lodge an objection to it with the Executive Committee in writing.

- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1) smoke which is injurious to health or which adversely affects the reasonable comfort of the occupier or occupiers of adjoining or nearby premises or which affects the use of such premises for the purposes for which they are normally permitted to be used, shall be deemed to be a nuisance and the person responsible for any nuisance referred to in that subsection shall be -
 - (a) if the nuisance is due to defects in any building erected or adapted by the owner, or any previous owner, of the premises concerned for the carrying on of the activities giving rise to the nuisance, or to any plant or appliance installed by the owner or any such previous owner or for the maintenance of which the owner is responsible, the owner of such premises; and

- (6) On application under subsection (5) the court may, if, with due observance of any regulations made in that connection under section 40(1)(e), it is satisfied that the relevant building on the affected premises was erected after the process from which the smoke or other products giving rise to the nuisance emanates, was put into operation and that it is equitable to order the owner of the affected premises to pay or contribute to the cost of carrying out the work or installing the appliances concerned, order such owner to pay such cost or contribute such share as it may determine towards such cost, as the court may in the circumstances consider equitable, but not exceeding the amount by which the value of the affected premises will be enhanced in consequence of the removal of the nuisance.

- (7) If within a period determined by the court which convicted any person of an offence in terms of subsection (4), steps have not been taken to the satisfaction of the urban local authority concerned with a view to the abatement of the nuisance which gave rise to the conviction, the urban local authority may itself execute such works, or cause them to be executed, and install such appliances, or cause them to be installed, and take such other steps, or cause them to be taken, as it may consider necessary to abate such nuisance and recover the cost thereby incurred from the person convicted; Provided that if any person has under subsection (6) been ordered to pay, or contribute towards the cost involved in abating the nuisance, the urban local authority may in its discretion recover from that person so much of the amount, if any, which that person is in terms of the order required to pay, as remains unpaid, and such person shall in that event be discharged from liability in terms of the order to the extent of the amount so recovered.

- occupier to make available to the urban local authority any results recorded by or ascertained by means of such apparatus;
- (h) prescribing such requirements in respect of the provision of heating or cooking facilities in buildings as the urban local authority may consider necessary for reducing to a minimum the emanation of smoke from such buildings, and prohibiting the installation in any building of any appliances other than specified types of appliances or any appliances which do not comply with the requirements so prescribed;
